

Hyatt Regency Brunch and Father's Day was the perfect combination for many families

The Sunday brunch at the Hyatt Ruinas del Mar restaurant is a great way to make any Sunday special and many chose it honor the patriarch of the family this past weekend.

For some families, such as the Burkes of Aruba and the Cunzolos of Tarpon Springs, Florida, it is a long standing Father's Day tradition. Rhonda Cunzolo declared that for her husband Peter "it is the one thing that would disappointed him if he couldn't do it during our annual vacation in Aruba. He would be devastated."

Fortunately, the Cunzolos and many other were able to enjoy the fabulous selection of gourmet delights offered by the Hyatt every Sunday, even though they were fully booked for Father's Day. Aside from the many delicious dishes from the carving station, pizza and pasta pavilion and sushi station, fathers with families were greeted at the door by having a souvenir photo of them snapped on a chrome incrustated Harley motorcycle.

Not all chose to pose, but still enjoyed the morning spent in beautiful surroundings, with black swans gliding around the pool and the gentle splash of waterfalls in the background. Jenny Raphaela of Fuji Color Aruba is well known to many in Aruba, and his father Victor enjoyed treating three generations of the family to this treat. The Delgado and Trestini families of Caracas were trying it for the first time also, and they flew in just to spend this special weekend together in Aruba.

The day was extra special for the winners of the Father's Day Raffle, conducted under the supervision of Ruinas manager Ray Malmberg. Hyatt's F & B Manager Alphonso Nedd lent his enthusiastic presence as Assistant F & B Manager Maurice v/d Linden enjoyed the task of drawing the winning tickets with Gandelman representative Liesbeth Manichand.

For Miguel Rodriguez and Reynold Croes, it was a happy ending indeed, as they had lingered over brunch long enough to collect the first and second prizes in the raffle. Miguel went home with a beautiful Techmaster watch from Gandelman Jewelers, and Reynold will return with his wife Mary Ann and daughter Sylvian to spend a free weekend at the Hyatt. Numerous other winners will be happy to find out they are the recipients of free dinners at Ruinas Del Mar and other Hyatt restaurants, or even better, a free Sunday Brunch for two!
